NEW SOUTH FLORIDA PRACTICE MAKES A LASTING IMPRESSION:
DR. CAMILLE DIXON OPENS THE FLORIDA DENTURE INSTITUTE

Dental Group the Only to Offer the Revolutionary Turbyfill Technique in South Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. – August 27, 2009 – Dr. Camille Dixon today announced the opening of the Florida Denture Institute (FDI), the only South Florida dental group to launch and offer the Turbyfill Denture Technique.

The Turbyfill Denture Technique is a multi-step process to custom fit dentures with a fundamental impression over time rather than taking one impression of the mouth. This technique eliminates any problems associated with dentures, including clicking, slipping, gum irritation, odor and mouth sores. The dentures are hand-made of the finest materials yielding first first-class appearance and durability. In addition to the Turbyfill Technique, FDI provides implant-related overdentures, hybrid dentures, and partial dentures.

FDI is owned and managed by Dr. Dixon, a University of Florida College of Dentistry graduate who has been practicing general dentistry since 1996. Finding herself displeased with poor quality denture products in the marketplace, Dr. Dixon trained with Dr. Walter F. Turbyfill, the developer of the Turbyfill Denture Technique. Upon finishing her training, Dr. Dixon founded the Florida Denture Institute, bringing this new method to South Florida.

Florida Denture Institute is located at 2211 NE 36th Street (Sample Rd.) Suite 102, Lighthouse Point, Fla. For more information, visit www.FloridaDentureInstitute.com or call 954.788.7101.

About the Turbyfill Denture Technique

The Turbyfill Denture Technique was begun more than a half-century ago by Dr. Earl Pound and perfected by Dr. Walter F. Turbyfill. This technique is the only method to take into consideration and utilize all the functions of the teeth – speech, mastication and facial shaping – in the denture fitting process.

About Florida Denture Institute
